

James Vinson named to lead SoilTech Consultants

Ridgeland, Miss. (July 24, 2018) – SoilTech Consultants, Inc., is pleased to announce that James Vinson, PE, has joined the firm and will manage the firm's overall operations.

Vinson has more than 20 years of geotechnical engineering experience, the last 17 with consulting firm CDM Smith in that firm's Knoxville, TN, office.

In his new role with SoilTech, Vinson will lead the geotechnical engineering and testing discipline for the 20-person firm that is based in Ridgeland and operates four other offices across Mississippi.

SoilTech is a wholly owned subsidiary of Jackson-based Neel Schaffer Engineers & Planners.

"We are excited about the opportunity to have James join SoilTech," said Robert Walker, PE, Neel-Schaffer's Executive Vice President for subsidiary firms. "He brings outstanding experience and knowledge to our team. He has vast experience across the Southeast, especially with design-build projects."

"I am very pleased to join SoilTech and its great team of people," said Vinson. "I look forward to working together and providing quality services across the South."

Vinson is a registered Professional Engineer in Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Texas, and Michigan. He received a Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering from Mississippi State University, and a Master of Science in Civil Engineering from Auburn University.

About SoilTech Consultants, Inc.

SoilTech is a geotechnical engineering firm that is headquartered in Ridgeland, MS, and operates four other offices across Mississippi. SoilTech provides geotechnical testing, drilling, and materials testing services for a wide variety of public and private clients.

Contact Information

Rusty Hampton | rusty.hampton@neel-schaffer.com | 601-351-2727
Marketing Manager, Neel-Schaffer Inc.